Halos represent the order of magnitude of the number of reviewers in a category.

Line thickness represents the number of reviewers who reviewed in both categories.

Weights are number of reviewers who reviewed in both categories divided by the number of reviewers in the smaller category.